

Chapter 4

अथ समाधिः ।

Now samādhi:

इन्द्रियाणां मनो नाथो मनोनाथस्तु मारुतः ।

मारुतस्य लयो नाथस्तं नाथं लयमाश्रयेत् ॥ १ ॥

Mind is the master of the senses; breath is the master of the mind [and] dissolution [of the mind] is the master of the breath. [The yogi] should take refuge in that master, dissolution [of the mind]. (1)

प्रणष्टोच्छ्वासनिश्वासः प्रध्वस्तविषयग्रहः ।

निश्चेष्टो निर्विकारश्च लयो जयति योगिनाम् ॥ २ ॥

The yogis' motionless and unchanging dissolution [of mind], in which inhalation and exhalation have disappeared [and] perception of sense objects has ceased, reigns supreme. (2)

❖ Commentary

This line may be authorial because it is explaining the fact that 4.6 and 4.7 teach similar techniques called śāmbhavī mudrā and khecarī mudrā respectively. One would expect a verse on khecarī mudrā to be explaining the insertion of the tongue in the nasopharyngeal cavity (cf. 3.33–48), but the practice of meditating by fixing the gaze is called khecarī mudrā in 4.7 (as attested by α, η and π manuscripts) and manuscripts of the Candrāvalokana, the text from which Svātmārāma borrowed this verse. It is, therefore, likely that he added 4.8 to explain that śāmbhavī and khecarī mudrās are the same with respect to the gaze and meditative state of mind. A similar conflation occurs in the Śivayogapradīpikā (5.3).

❖ Commentary

On the position of these verses (4.9–11) in the various recensions of the text, see the introduction p. 77.

The first half of the verse has many variants among the witnesses, and none of the variants are satisfactory. A different version is found in the Ĵyotsnā (3.52) and some manuscripts

यत्किञ्चित्स्रवते चन्द्रादमृतं दिव्यरूपिणः ।
तत्सर्वं ग्रसते सूर्यस्तेन पिण्डं जरायुतम् ॥ १० ॥

तत्रास्ति करणं दिव्यं सूर्यस्य सुखबन्धनम् ।
गुरुपदेशतो ज्ञेयं न तु शास्त्रार्थकोटिभिः ॥ ११ ॥

There is a divine bodily position for this, which blocks the mouth of the sun. It is to be known from the teaching of a guru and not through the countless scriptural teachings. (11)

10 = 3.77*1, only included in $\alpha_1\alpha_2\alpha_3$ 11 = 3.77*2, only included in $\alpha_1\alpha_2\alpha_3$ 11b mukhabandhanam em.] paribandhanam $\alpha_1\alpha_2$, illeg. α_3 belonging to lower branches of the stemma (e.g., η_2 , π_{ω} , etc.). This version was likely inserted into chapter three of α_2 , which seems to best represent it:

यत्प्रालेयं पिहितसुखिरे मेरुमूले यदस्ती
तस्मि त्वं प्रवदति सुधीस्तन्मुखं निम्नगानाम्

With the help of other manuscripts (in particular K_1 of the γ group), the above can be emended and understood as follows:

The third verse quarter varies considerably among the witnesses and testimonia. We have accepted the reading of α_1 (nādam evānusaṃdhānān), which is also attested by the π group and manuscripts of the Haṭharatnāvalī, on the assumption that the -m- at the end of nādam is a hiatus break, the intended reading being nāda evānusaṃdhānāt. A similar hiatus break is found at 3.89.

❖ Commentary

In Jyotsnā 4.70, Brahmānanda understands the voids associated with each stage to be places in the body. However, in the Amṛtasiddhi and Amaraugha, the source text of this verse, the series of voids (along with their respective blisses and sounds) derives from a tetrad of meditative voids in Vajrayāna traditions (MALLINSON AND SZÁNTÓ 2021: 18; BIRCH 2019: 968).

दिव्यदेहश्च तेजस्वी दिव्यगन्धस्त्वरोगवान् ।
संपूर्णहृदयः शून्ये त्वारम्भे योगवान्भवेत् ॥ २१ ॥

With a divine body, radiant, smelling heavenly, free from disease and his heart full [of bliss], in the void in the beginning [stage] the [practitioner] becomes a yogi. (21)

अथ घटावस्था ।

द्वितीयायां घटीकृत्य वायुर्भवति मध्यगः ।
दृढासनो भवेद्योगी ज्ञानी देवसमस्तदा ॥ २२ ॥

Now the unified stage:

In the second stage the breath, after bringing about union, goes into the middle [channel]. Then the yogi has a firm posture [and] he becomes a gnostic, equal to a god. (22)

❖ Commentary

The name of the second stage, ghaṭa (and the related form ghaṭikṛtya found in the first pāda of this verse) can be understood in at least three ways, as union, activation or pot (the latter with an alchemical connotation, on which see 3.12 and MALLINSON AND SZANTO 2021: 20–23). In the Dattātreyayogaśāstra (verse 90) its primary meaning is union and the united pairs are prāṇa and apāna, jīvātman and paramātman, and nāda and bindu.

Here the object of piercing is unspecified, but it is likely to refer to the knot of Viṣṇu mentioned in the previous verse.

We have understood vihāyo ('space') as referring to the state of total emptiness (atīśūnya) that was mentioned in the previous verse.

❖ Commentary

The reading we have adopted for the fourth verse quarter, kvaṇadvīṇākvaṇo, Birch's conjecture in his edition of the Amaraughā, is supported by several testimonia and Amṛtasiddhi 31.2, where it is said that the sound of a vīṇā arises in the fourth stage.

The reading śarva, i.e. Śiva, found in some testimonia and the Jyotsnā makes good sense, but in its description of this stage, the Amṛtasiddhi, which is the ultimate source of this passage has sarva (30.1).

❖ Commentary

The meaning of tattva here is unclear. It is a synonym for samādhi and unmanī in the next verses. However, this meaning seems unlikely here as tattva is one of three factors that is supposed to lead to unmanī. In Jyotsnā 4.104, Brahmānanda says that tattva means citta, which makes sense in so far as the mind grows to the beyond-mind state. However, this interpretation seems somewhat contrived. We have understood tattva in the sense of the ‘highest reality’ (paramatattva) on the assumption that, as the seed, it is the latent cause of the state beyond mind.

❖ Commentary

The reading tūlena (‘with cotton’), which is attested by α_3 , makes good sense and is close to the reading of mūlena in α_1 and α_2 . Manuscripts of several other groups instead have hastābhyāṃ (‘with the hands’) or hastena (‘with the hand’). This reading was inspired by the technique of blocking the ears and other orifices with the fingers in order to listen to the inner sounds. This practice is attested as early as the Svacchandatantra in which it is called ṣaṇmukhikaraṇa (VASUDEVA 2004: 272 n. 66). In this karaṇa, the other openings of the head are also blocked with the fingers. Śivasamhitā 5.36–46 teaches a similar practice. In the Haṭhayogasamhitā (p. 68), the practice of blocking the ears with the hands is stipulated for bhrāmārī kumbhaka.

We have translated kāhala as ‘trumpet’ on the basis of e.g. Viśvalocanaśāstra, lāntavarga 161 (dhvaninālā tu vīṇāyāṃ veṇukāhalaḥ api), but it can also mean a type of drum (see e.g. Śābda-kalpadruma s.v. kāhala, where it is said to be a bṛhaḍḍhakkā, a big drum).

❖ Commentary

The metaphor is that of snake charming: beguiled by the inner sound, the snake that is the mind becomes transfixed. Witnesses of the γ and δ groups have turaṅgamaḥ instead of bhujaṅgamaḥ, perhaps because forms from dhāv are unusual with the latter, but it is found at e.g. Garuḍapurāṇa (1.113.33ab).

In the third pāda we have read against α_1 and α_2 (as well as ε_1 and π_2), which have saṃsmṛtya sarvam instead of vismṛtya sarvam. The former could be understood to mean “with complete concentration” but we have adopted vismṛtya on semantic grounds.

The source of these lines may be the Uttaragītā as they occur in its published edition. However, in one of its manuscripts (NGMPP E 2098-11) these three lines are omitted from Kṛṣṇa's words, which start with omkāra. The author of the Upāsanāsārasaṅgraha (f. 111) has quoted these lines and attributed them to the Gītāsāra.

We are unsure of the meaning of kūṭa here. As suggested to us by Sven Sellmer, it may mean the tip of the tongue which in, for example Khecarīvidyā 1.65–67 and 3.16–17, is to be placed at trikūṭa as part of the practice of khecarīmudrā.

The emendation of drutaṃ in the last verse quarter has been made to restore the faulty readings of the α manuscripts (i.e. druttaṃ, dhṛtaṃ, ḍṛtaṃ), which are similar to an incorrect reading in an important witness of the source text, the Gorakṣaśataka (T, dhṛtaṃ). The emendation to drutaṃ is based on the parallel verse in the Mokṣopāya and its related recensions, which have kṣipraṃ instead.

❖ Commentary

As it is found in its source text, the Jñānasāra, this verse says that the yogi flies around the world with the speed of the wind (vāyuvegena). We have understood Svātmārāma to have edited the verse to reflect the subject of the previous two verses in which the breath is to be stopped.

तथा विश्वरूपाचार्यः ।

यदा संक्षीयते प्राणो मानसं च विलीयते ।

तदा समरसत्वं यत्समाधिः सोऽभिधीयते ॥ ७३ ॥

Thus, Viśvarūpācārya [said]:

When the breath is destroyed and the mind dissolves, all experience is the same (samarasatva). That is called samādhi. (73)

❖ Commentary

The six-chapter Vivekamārtaṇḍa is attributed to Viśvarūpa, which perhaps explains the attribution of this verse to him.
